President's Message

Dear friends,

One of my pleasant duties is to provide members of the Society's Decade Journey (2012-2022) with the synopsis of its charitable activities through this bulletin.

The mission of our Society is to write a better future for underprivileged rural Indian children through education and assistance for food, clothing, health and other needs through donations and sponsorship. Keeping children in school is important not only to children, but to the rest of the community and to the nation as well. Education leads to economic growth, social and political stability, decline in crime rates and improved social services.

The drive to serve and improve the mission of this Society cannot be achieved without the support of a dedicated group of individuals, our volunteers; they do not get paid, not because they are worthless, but because they are priceless. Many people volunteer in various endeavours and gain satisfaction in their own way. This is a personal fulfillment I can identify with. Working for the Society for the education and assistance of rural Indian children is the type of work in which satisfaction is gained in a different way. Their involvement is not really about the past as much as it is about the future. It is a link with two basic facts of life - own morality and the value of inherent right. This is the key to breaking the cycle of poverty to deliver a sense of freedom to children, irrespective of their religion.

The strength of volunteers to an organization lies in a commitment to helping in programs, fundraising activities and other areas that keep us moving forward. In order for us to serve and grow, we need more people volunteering and ultimately be involved in activities. We must work together, commit to communicating needs and concerns of underprivileged children both in India and Canada.

I am asking volunteers, meaning all of us, to consider how we can realize our personal rewards in working towards the mission of this Society. How can that be improved? Identifying those factors must be your responsibility. We stand ready to talk about it and make it happen.
